

Autofy Keeps Data Error-Free for a West Coast Health Care Company

Autofy user, Dawn is the Director of Operations for a Medical Supplies Company headquartered on the West Coast. Dawn and her team have been using Autofy since 2015 and it has completely evolved the way they operate.

Prior to using Autofy, Dawn had to dedicate one full-time employee to solely enter data from their Shopify online store to QuickBooks. Not only was this costly on time, but the risk of human errors from data entry was huge.

Instead of forcing her employee to suffer through data entry day after day, Dawn decided to see what options were available, with one simple requirement in mind: The tool had to be easy to use. That is when she discovered Autofy!

After over two years of integrating Shopify and QuickBooks with Autofy, Dawn's company has seen huge improvements in not only productivity, but data quality as well.

So, what is Dawn's advice to you?
"Do it now!"

"By using the integration, errors are virtually eliminated and it takes 60% less time than before to process. This means orders are shipped the same day they are ordered. In addition, employees that process orders now have 60% more time in the day to work on other projects/office needs."

Director of Operations

About Us:

Propelware, the makers of Autofy, have been building business class integration solutions for over 15 years. Our Autofy platform was built around automating QuickBooks and connecting it with systems such as Salesforce, Shopify, and many other applications small businesses use in their day to day practice. It's our passion to help you achieve this and our pleasure to show you how.
